

Prof. Dasgupta presents patented research at international conferences

Professor Dipankar Dasgupta, the Director of the Center for Information Assurance (CfIA), delivered a keynote speech on July 15th at the ACM Workshop on Genetic and Evolutionary Computation in Defense, Security and Risk Management (SecDef @ GECCO 2018). The conference was hosted at Kyoto TERRSA in Kyoto, Japan. On July 17th, he also presented his patented-research on Adaptive Multi-Factor Authentication (A-MFA) at iChain, a company in Tokyo, Japan that is currently applying Blockchain Technology for insurance portfolio management.

Pictured: Professor Dipankar Dasgupta (Center-Left) with iChain

On July 23rd, Professor Dasgupta attended the 8th Annual International Conference on Accounting and Finance, where he chaired a session and presented a research paper on “Analysis of Multi-Market Stock data to find Exchange Dominance” based on the multi-disciplinary research here at FISC center of the University of Memphis. This conference was hosted in Singapore from July 23 – 24, 2018

Pictured: Professor Dipankar Dasgupta (Center) with Conference

For detailed information about the Center for Information Assurance, please visit <http://www.memphis.edu/cfia> or contact: cfia@memphis.edu.