At the core of our mission are key values of diversity, inclusion, respect, innovation, and service, which permeate every aspect of our operations. We are dedicated to empowering our students to excel, transforming innovation into actionable results, and inspiring communities in Memphis, Tennessee, and beyond through the power of education.

While designed primarily for K-12 leaders, our fully online Master of Science in School Administration and Supervision is beneficial for leaders from other fields, including teacher leadership, higher education, and nonprofit leadership. The program emphasizes applied theories of educational leadership, mastery of practical skills required for effective leadership and administration, and competence in research methods necessary for understanding and assessing learning organizations. Qualified candidates can earn the Tennessee Instructional Leadership License-Beginning (ILL-B) with the master's degree. Students must pass the Praxis School Leaders: Licensure Assessment administered by ETS to earn the ILL-B.
