COURSE REQUIREMENTSCATALOG DESCRIPTION:

Writing and reporting news and news feature stories using both traditional and new media techniques with an emphasis on developing sources and advanced skills.

PREREQUISITE:

JRSM 2121

REQUIRED MATERIALS:

- “The Associated Press Stylebook 2018” ISBN: 978-0-917360-67-1. Students should have this book from 2121. Earlier editions (2016 and 2017) are acceptable.
- A smart phone and access to a laptop or a desktop computer. Students cannot rely on using university computer labs. Journalists today need to be in constant contact with the Internet and social media, so make sure you have the devices to make that happen.
- A camera or smart phone for taking digital photographs.
- A clip-on Lavalier microphone for recording interviews for video and audio.
- The New York Times available in campus newspaper boxes or by digital subscription.
- Subscription to local online publication, The Daily Memphian.

RECOMMENDED MATERIALS:

- Kessler, Lauren and McDonald Duncan When Words Collide: A Media Writer's Guide to Grammar and Style (Thomson-Wadsworth, 2001). Students may have this from Media Writing. No need to buy an updated version.
- The Elements of Style Illustrated (Penguin Books, paperback reprint, 2007)

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

- Assignments will be completed both in and outside the classroom, so attendance and participation in class are vital. Class time is also valuable for discussions about news and upcoming assignments, so please be on time. Students who arrive more than 15 minutes late will be counted as absent. It is your responsibility to sign the attendance sheet if you arrive late to class.
- Here's how attendance works: I'm not interested in hearing excuses. You get three free passes during the semester. After you cash in the passes, missed classes are reflected in your final grade. For example, if you miss one additional class, your final grade drops a letter grade. If you miss two more classes, your grade drops again. So, if you miss six classes, your final grade drops two letters.
- Be sure to join our class Facebook page because if you miss a class, it is your responsibility to find out what is due. Do not count on me to answer texts, emails or Facebook posts about missed work. Consult a classmate or ecourseware instead.
- If you are unsure about deadlines, check the ecourseware dropbox dates. Do not rely on assignment dates printed on the syllabus.
- There are no exams in reporting, but quizzes may be given on assigned readings, classroom discussions, current events, and AP style.
- In addition to written and multi-media assignments, students update online portfolios built in JRSM 3900 to showcase their work and to facilitate internship placement. Portfolios include clips, design work, resumes and social media contacts. For this semester, think of your portfolio as an online news for stories with headlines, hyperlinks, captions and multi-media.
- You must stay informed about the news and about newsmakers. It is impossible to be a good reporter unless you are informed about local, national and international news, as well as the media industry. Throughout the semester, we will focus on following specific news sites, such as The New York Times, The Daily Memphian, CNN, NPR, and so forth. Expect weekly news quizzes on news content.
- Students who need additional help with writing mechanics will be required to attend mandatory sessions at the university's Writing Center.
- All assignments must be filed to the ecourseware drop box by midnight (11:59 p.m.) on the day they are due. Late assignments will NOT be accepted. Do not send late assignments to my email. It is extremely important that you recognize the importance of deadlines in news and learn to file assignments on time.
- All assignments must be written in third person in a structure that conforms to standard media writing guidelines. Assignments will be graded on content, sources, writing, story structure, word count, grammar, punctuation and AP style. One point may be deducted from story grades for every mistake in AP style, spelling, punctuation and grammar, so edit your work carefully.
- Additionally, 15 points will be deducted for factual errors, such as misspelled names and incorrect dates. Get your facts straight!
- Rewrites that do not include the additional reporting discussed in editing notes will receive lower grades than the original stories.
- Reporters may publish class stories in the Daily Helmsman, but only AFTER they are graded and rewritten for class.

- Additionally, all assignments must conform to these specifications: All stories must be filed in a word document, double-spaced with indented paragraphs, 11 point Verdana type. All documents must be identified with a date, a byline and a headline. If assignments don't meet these specifications, they will not be graded, and students will receive a zero.
- And finally, assignments for 3120 may involve several components, such as a written story and a multi-media sidebar. You must complete all parts of the assignment to receive a grade. Instructors do not grade incomplete assignments, and students receive a zero for incomplete work.

OTHER ISSUES:

- Reporting 3120 develops the skills learned in media writing with increased emphasis on expert sources and alternative story telling. Reporters today need to work in different ways on multiple platforms, so this class integrates more traditional reporting and writing with photography, multi-media, social media and headline writing.
- More specific reporting and writing goals for this class include:
 - Writing with ease, accuracy, and speed
 - Developing sources
 - Developing storytelling skills with words and photographs
 - Polishing writing mechanics and AP style
 - Reporting with social media
 - Writing for digital media (headlines, captions, hyperlinks)
 - Publishing stories in print and/or online
 - Building professional online portfolios and media literacy

GRADING:

- Class assignments: 75 percent (includes online portfolio)
- Quizzes, homework, and in-class work: 25 percent

FIVE PILLARS OF JOUR 3120

- Professionalism: Students learn the skills required to work in media today by practicing more advanced applications of the basics: ethics, deadlines, information gathering, and writing news stories and features. Increasingly, work is evaluated on professional standards. Students learn how to pitch story ideas and how to publish stories in print and online.
- Writing: Students work on writing mechanics and AP style, but they write more complex stories, learning to integrate national sources, descriptive writing, and statistical data into their work. Students also are introduced to headline writing and caption writing.
- Multimedia: Although students write traditional news stories throughout the semester, they also learn alternative storytelling techniques using photography, video, smart phone apps, and social media. All assignments include a multimedia component to bring added value to written work.
- Critical Thinking: Students work independently and as a team to develop story ideas and to target stories for publication. They write more complex stories, learning to organize multiple sources and research into both multimedia and traditional print formats.
- Media Literacy: Students stay informed about news and the media with social media, phone apps, and local and national newspapers available on campus. Media experts from print, broadcast, and online publications also guest lecture to share professional experiences and opportunities with students.

JOURNALISM AND STRATEGIC MEDIA POLICIES

PORTFOLIO REQUIREMENT:

All students in the Department of Journalism and Strategic Media are required to develop and maintain an active portfolio of their work. Undergraduate students are to begin the portfolio in JRSM 3900 and graduate students are to begin in JRSM 7002. Students are to contribute to it in every skills course thereafter. The portfolio should contain samples of the student's work from courses and/or professional experiences and should develop as the student builds skills. Portfolios will undergo a final, external review while students are enrolled in their capstone courses.

Students may use any type of web hosting for their portfolios, but it must have an independent and professional URL. Students may use any content management system, but students are encouraged to use WordPress, Wix, or Squarespace. Students are encouraged to consider purchasing a URL and hosting if they plan to use the portfolio for a long term, but they must keep the portfolio active for six months following graduation from the University of Memphis.

Students should have a professional email address they plan to use throughout their professional lives, via a common email service, such as Gmail.

All portfolios must contain the following items:

- Samples of work from courses and/or professional activities. (Example: Broadcasting students must include a video reel)
- A current résumé
- A personal profile
- Contact information/means of contact
- Social media links

Students might wish to include a blog, video reels, photograph galleries, SoundSlides presentations, design PDFs, audio files, and writing pieces as examples of professional work. The professional work should ultimately be tailored to the career the student seeks after graduation. Thus, each student's portfolio should show a unique blend of work.

EMAIL:

Students must have their UofM email accounts activated. Students using another provider, such as Google, are required to have all UofM email forwarded to that account. Students should go to the <http://iam.memphis.edu> website to implement forwarding of UofM email. Students are required to check their email daily. They are responsible for complying with any email sent to by professors or others in the University.

MOBILE PHONES AND LAPTOPS:

Some classes require a tablet, laptop or a smartphone. Others do not. Instructors will set the policy for their specific classes.

ATTENDANCE:

Class attendance is mandatory in the Department of Journalism and Strategic Media. Students may be assigned a failing grade for the semester for nonattendance or habitual late arrival. No late work will be accepted without prior arrangements with the class professor. Students may not be permitted to make up any missing work unless it is for an absence because of illness or other catastrophic emergency, such as a death in the family that can be documented (e.g. with a doctor's note or a copy of the newspaper obituary). Journalism and Strategic Media is a professional program, and students are expected to understand and comply with deadlines. Students who have some problem making it to class on time should make arrangements to correct the problem or consider taking another class. Students should consider this class as a "job" in the educational process and be on time just as they would elsewhere.

COURSE REPETITION:

Majors and minors who fail to earn the minimum passing grade ("C-") in a class required by their program of study in Journalism and Strategic Media more than three times will be dropped from the program.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY:

In addition to University-wide policies stated in the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities, the Department of Journalism and Strategic Media considers making up quotes from sources, turning in substantially the same assignment for credit in two different courses, or students receiving any assistance from others for work assigned to be done on their own, as acts of cheating punishable to the degree determined appropriate by the course instructor and department chair. Punishment may include grade reductions or seeking dismissal of the student from the University.

Further, as this is a journalism/mass media class, students are expected to comply with copyright law and must have sufficient permission to use any copyrighted materials used in creative projects, unless otherwise informed in cases of exercises or reproduction.

"Your written work may be submitted to Turnitin.com, or a similar electronic detection method, for an evaluation of the originality of your ideas and proper use and attribution of sources. As part of this process, you may be required to submit electronic as well as hard copies of your written work, or be given other instructions to follow. By taking this course, you agree that all assignments may undergo this review process and that the assignment may be included as a source document in Turnitin.com's restricted access database solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism in such documents. Any assignment not submitted according to the procedures given by the instructor may be penalized or may not be accepted at all." (Office of Legal Counsel, October 17, 2005)

ONLINE SETEs:

Students are urged to complete the SETEs evaluation of this course. Once the instructor has posted grades, student can immediately see that grade, provided they have completed a the SETE for that class. To access evaluation forms, students should log in to MyMemphis using their UUIs and email passwords; click on the gray "Student" tab; complete an evaluation for each course listed and hit the "Submit" button at the bottom of the form. Completing the SETE will only take a few minutes. Faculty take the evaluations very seriously and use them to improve courses and instructional quality. Student feedback is essential and is appreciated.

DEADLINES:

All deadlines are firm. This is journalism and strategic media. Students needing an extension on an assignment must receive approval from the instructor. Exceptions will be made for reasonable circumstances if the student notifies the instructor prior to the due date.

AP STYLE AND GRAMMAR:

All written work in this class must follow the AP Stylebook and accepted rules of grammar and punctuation. Students are responsible for learning these rules and checking their work for errors.

DISABILITY:

Students who need an accommodation based on the impact of a disability should contact the Office for Disability Services at 901-678-2880 in 110 Wilder Tower Hall to coordinate reasonable accommodations for students with documented disabilities.

DIVERSITY:

Students are required to respect the differences of others and treat all persons with respect. Discriminatory, derogatory and threatening language or behavior will not be tolerated. Further, students are expected to consider their work through a diverse mind. Media reach a mass audience, and students should be aware of how those messages are received by a diverse audience.

WEATHER POLICY:

Always check with local media and the University of Memphis website regarding inclement weather. If the university is closed or classes are canceled, this course will not meet. However, students will still be responsible for that day's work.

STUDENT SUPPORT:

Students who are experiencing personal or academic challenges including, but not limited to food or housing issues, family needs, or other stressors, should visit the Office of Student Accountability, Outreach & Support page to learn about resources that can help: <https://www.memphis.edu/saos/sos/crisis-resources.php>. Any student who faces personal challenges including, but not limited to securing their food or housing and believes this may affect their performance in the course is urged to contact the Office of Student Accountability, Outreach & Support (901-678-2187) located in the University Center, Suite 359 for assistance. Students may also talk with course instructors about the challenges they are experiencing. Instructors may be able to assist in connecting with campus or community support.
